$240,000 Quota for This County Raised and Passed at Most Enthusiastic Meeting Friday.

Eloquent Speeches Made as Success of Great Drive Is Assured—Hodgson Issues Statement.

As a mighty, earth-shaking "Georgia rah" reverberated through the Ansley hotel dining room Friday afternoon, a determined group of loyal sons of Georgia's university, pledged more than $200,000 to the million dollar war memorial fund and completed the raising of Fulton county's quota of $240,000. Simultaneously it was announced that the total amount raised in the state campaign had crossed the million-dollar mark and the final total was still soaring higher as belated subscriptions were received.

Surmounting almost insurmountable obstacles, working at a time when raising money for any cause was never more difficult and with only a limited field to work the twelve teams of Fulton county led by Harold Hirsch, Fulton county chairman, in a final concerted rush, swept aside all financial barriers and in the last few minutes of the campaign raised the last dollar of the $240,000 quota and to make the victory complete raised several hundred dollars more than was needed.

Rousing Speeches Made.
Prior to the last big effort at the meeting Friday afternoon rousing speeches for the University of Georgia and for the state of Georgia were made. Harold Hirsch, chairman of the Fulton county campaign, presided as chairman and the speakers were Dr. A. M. Soule, president of the college of agriculture; Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution and trustee of the University of Georgia; Cam Dorsey, captain of team No. 5, and Eugene R. Black, prominent Atlanta lawyer and alumnus of the University of Georgia.

Word was received from Athens that the success of the Fulton county committee in raising its quota had completed the $1,000,000 fund and that scattering returns from various parts of the state indicated that the

Tears and Smiles Are Mingled
Happenings Here and There
As Atlanta Honors Heroic Dead

History was in the making as all Atlanta gathered at Five Points Friday to celebrate the third anniversary of the signing of the armistice that ended the greatest struggle in all world history. Marshal Foch, allied generalissimo; General Pershing, commander of the American expeditionary forces; President Harding and a host of international figures were paying honor to the unknown soldier of America who was being laid to rest in Arlington cemetery; the world disarmament conference was preparing to open negotiations at the national capital, and the whole world was voicing its righteous hatred of war.

It was indeed a momentous occasion; one that will probably cast its shadow upon the destiny of generations yet to be born.

Atlanta's young manhood and young womanhood played a prominent part in the ceremonies at Five Points. As the boys marched to the heart of the city, a stranger was heard to declare that he had never before seen so many stalwart young fellows in all his life.

Then the girls began to arrive.

"Well, you've got plenty of girls, too," the stranger added with wide eyes.

Leave it to Smithies.

Leave it to Tech High school to be generous and graceful on all occasions.

As the Junior Smithies marched away from Five Points, their band, at the head of the khaki columns, lustily struck up "The Ramblin' Wreck." Cheers for Tech ensued, accompanied by the hurrying of hundreds of caps and hats into the air.

Then the Smithies band swept into the strains of "Glory, Glory to Old Georgia." By actual count, there were just as many cheers and caps flying.

Even a solemn occasion like that of Armistice day is not without its perfectly human touch of humor.

"A little pickin'ny, tightly grasping the hand of a stout, ebony-skinned mother, supplied it.

"What dey doin', mammy?" piped the little black as he caught a glimpse of the great crowd.

"Hush, chile," replied the negro woman. "Dey's honorin' de sojers in de big wah."

"Lawdee, mammy," came the re-

SOLEMN TRIBUTE
PAID BY ATLANTA
TO WAR VICTIMS

Immense Crowd Present at Exercises Held on Armistice Day in Vicinity of Five Points.

ORATION IS DELIVERED
BY MAJOR WHITSETT

Overseas Officers of 82d Division, National Guard Units, and R. O. T. C. Corps Take Part.

Head bared and bowed, heart attune to the thrilling strains of patriotic music that swept the city, Atlanta yesterday stood in an attitude of prayerful, solemn tribute to the American heroes who rest beneath the serried rows of little white crosses on the rolling hills of far-away France.

A golden November sun looked down from a tender southern sky on the thousands who gathered at Five Points to participate in the city's official Armistice day program, but the beauty of sunshine, the clean blue of sky and even the first sharp winds of winter were ignored by the great throng.

For in the mind of every man who stood where the floodgates of Atlanta pour out their rushing streams of traffic was pictured a far different scene. It was framed in a setting of leaden French clouds, blackened in spots by spouts of flame and smoke that belched from the muzzles of cannon. The scene was made hideous by the shrieking of shrapnel, the nerve-racking "boom" of high explosives, the death rattle of machine guns, the screams of men embattled, the groans of the dying.

Picture of the Past.
Here and there the faces of gray-haired mothers and fathers, wives or sweethearts were drawn with pain, as in their mind's eye they saw the gray face of some loved one, son, brother or friend, staring sightlessly into the convulsed heavens that reflected the crimson of the battlefield.

Silent they stood—lost in thought, worshipping mutely at the shrine of some tender, never-to-be-forgotten memory. And as they stood, close-packed with unseeing eyes and bent heads it was almost as if the "vanished hand" rested a moment upon their brows in sweet benediction, and "the sound of a voice that is stilled" forever whispered a message of new

CONFERENCE DELEGATE

Presiding Elders Given Permission to Talk With Preachers Regarding Appointments.

BY DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

Augusta, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—In today's session of the North Georgia conference, the work of electing delegates to general conference was continued with five more clerical men chosen as follows: C. C. Jarrell, E. F. Dempsey, J. H. Eakes, J. A. Sharp and John F. Yarbrough. Two ballots cast by laymen resulted in one election, that of Mrs. Luke G. Johnson, of Griffin.

It was announced that Bishop Candler had given presiding elders permission to talk with preachers regarding appointments, advising them to use discretion, and with the understanding that the elders assume responsibility for it.

Dr. Elam F. Dempsey, of First church, Rome, will be appointed secretary of education in this conference, to succeed Dr. J. E. Dickey, who is expected to become pastor at Druid Hills church, succeeding Dr. Wallace Rogers, who will likely go to Rome, it was understood from authentic sources.

Dr. W. B. Dillard, field secretary for the Sunday school board for several years, has tendered his resignation from that place and will again enter the pastorate.

Dr. T. D. Ellis, Rev. L. A. Hill and Mr. Foster, Mr. Booth, Mr. Russell, Mr. Connor and Mr. Murray were introduced to the conference as visitors from the South Georgia conference.

Whole Nation Bows in Reverence as Bones Are Lowered Into Arlington Sepulchre.

WORLD'S GREAT MEN
PAY LOVING TRIBUTE

Cortege for Unknown Sacrifice for Liberty Passes Down Lanes of Humanity to Cemetery.

BY KIRK L. SIMPSON.

Associated Press Staff Correspondent.

Washington, November 11.—Under the wide and starry skies of his own homeland, America's unknown dead from France sleeps tonight, a soldier home from the wars. Alone he lies in the narrow cell of live stone that guards his body; but his soul has entered into the spirit that is America. Where even liberty is held close in men's hearts the honor and the glory and the pledge of high endeavor poured out over this nameless one of fame will be told and sung by Americans for all time.

Scrolled across the marble arch of the memorial raised to American soldier and sailor dead everywhere, which stands like a monument behind his tomb, runs this legend: "We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

The words were spoken by martyred Lincoln over the dead at Gettysburg. And today, with voice strong with determination and ringing with deep emotion, another president echoed that high resolve over the coffin of the soldier who died for the flag in France.

To Talk Peace.

Great men in the world's affairs heard that high purpose reiterated by the man who stands at the head of the American people. Tomorrow they will gather in the city that stands almost in the shadow of the new American shrine of liberty dedicated today. They will talk of peace, of the curbing of the havoc of war. They will speak of the war in France that robbed this soldier of life and name and brought death to comrades of all nations by the hundreds of thousands. And in their ears when they meet must ring President Harding's declaration today beside that flag wrapped, honor laden bier:

"There must be, there shall be, the commanding voice of a conscious civilization against armed warfare."

Far across the seas, other unknown

Matinee Girl's "Rep" at Stake In Love Tangle

New York, November 11.—The reputation of the American "matinee girl" is at stake in the divorce suit of Geraldine Farrar vs. Lou Tellegen. If efforts of the stage stars to preserve secrecy should break down in Supreme Justice Guy's court, the public will be treated to an amazing story of women at theaters, gossip on Broadway has it.

"Mash" notes, "mash" dinners, admiring feminine crowds and all the atmosphere of flattery which surrounds the leading man on tour will be exposed when "Gerry's" attorneys start going through their hand-picked list of co-respondents, it is said. The very good-looking Mr. Tellegen, idol of the Paris studios before he took to the stage, and idol of many a theater audience afterwards, was not inclined to give up his privileges after marriage, Miss Farrar complains. Her charges, specific and general, however, are denied by her husband.

Gerry charges that Tellegen's audiences on tour, largely composed of women, translated their admiration into personal affection. As proof that the blond girl in the second box sent a perfumed note; that the beautiful widow in the orchestra third row, extended a coy invitation, and that the shy married lady in row 9, sent around to the stage door a little bouquet of roses, Mrs. Tellegen will recall flirtatious entertainments said to have been given by her spouse in his Ninety-second street apartment here.

Miss Farrar's reputed array of co-respondents was carefully chosen from the throng of feminine admirers. At her home it was announced that Miss Farrar was "out of the city" and would not return until the opening of her engagement at the Metropolitan Opera house next Friday night. Tellegen is touring in New England in his last year's success, "Blind Youth," the prima donna barred her husband. The pair have not lived together since from their residence August 5.

WILL PROBE FIRE ON U. S. SUBMARINE

Lost Angeles, Cal., November 11.—The 15-mile run for life off Los Angeles harbor of the blazing submarine L-6 yesterday was expected to be followed today by inquiry into the cause of the fire which suddenly burst forth in the forward compartment of the craft while it was 10 fathoms beneath the surface.

Seven men, including the commander, Lieutenant M. V. Stonestreet, were either overcome by smoke and gas or seriously burned. The condition of the three—M. W. Hunter and R. J. Weir, second-class electricians, and F. McGowan, chief electrician—was said to be such as to arouse fear of complications.

The three less seriously burned were taken to the hospital. Lieutenant Stonestreet was only temporarily overcome by smoke, it was stated.

The submarine was on its way from San Diego to Los Angeles, on the last leg of a sixty-hour full-power and endurance run and had been out for eight hours when flames of undetermined origin, broke out in the forward compartment batteries.

The flames were so great that several men were overcome before the compartment door was locked.

Then the craft was raised as quickly as possible to the surface and the crew ordered to the narrow deck. With smoke and flames pouring from open hatches, the dash for the submarine base at Los Angeles harbor, 15 miles away, was begun.

When it dashed under the breakwater, at full speed of 14 knots, other naval vessels offered assistance, but the L-6 kept on until the base was reached. There the injured men were quickly transferred to the base hospital.

Lieutenant Stonestreet stated the batteries which had caused the fire had been "outlived," and the damage to the vessel was not great.

The L-6 was built by the Craig Shipbuilding company, at Long Beach, Cal., in 1918. It has a speed of 14 knots on the surface and nine knots submerged. It had been submerged fifteen minutes when the flames were discovered, according to its commander.

SURPRISE SPRUNG IN ALLEGED BLUE-BEARD'S TRIAL

Versailles, November 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—A surprise was sprung in the assizes court here today when Henri Landru, the alleged modern "Bluebeard," on trial for the murder of ten women and the son of one of them, produced two letters bearing the purported signature of Madame Desiree Guillen, one of his supposed victims, dated November and December, 1915, respectively.

The letters were addressed to the Bank of France, instructing that institution to dispose of her securities deposited in the bank by her. The bank, satisfied that the signatures were genuine, followed her instructions.

The prosecution today called in a handwriting expert, who swore that the signatures were forgeries. The jury was visibly impressed by the fact that the bank had accepted the signatures as genuine. Counsel for the defense spent a long time in cross-examining the handwriting expert.

The fifth day of the trial ended with the jury still occupied with the hearing of evidence concerning the case of Madame Guillen, whom the prosecution charged Landru had killed while representing himself as "Georges Petit," French consul general at Melbourne.

Both sides expressed the belief tonight that the trial would last at least ten days more.

Modern Caveman In Tails of Law Declare Police

After demanding vociferously of Miss Clara Reynolds, of 45 Harold street, his former sweetheart, the return of a ruby ring he had given her some time ago and after getting it, Walter Burton, of 64 Venable street, according to the police, stated that he was going to shoot up the place and followed up his assertion by drawing from his pocket a pistol, firing several shots into the front door, scaring the young woman almost to death and causing intense excitement in the neighborhood.

Call Officers L. D. Cady and W. F. Bullard investigated the scene of disturbance, went to Burton's home, arrested him, and from the city jail had to take him to Grady hospital for treatment. The shooting occurred at 6:30 o'clock Friday night, and Burton was arrested at 9 o'clock.

Although he denied having any recollection of going to Miss Reynolds' house, he acknowledged that he was drunk, having, he said, taken some "squirrel liquor," and when he was again brought back to police station he was charged with shooting at another and held under $1,000 bond.

Making Mayonnaise

Of all the tasks a housewife has, making mayonnaise is probably one of the most troublesome. The oil, the eggs, the seasoning—everything—even to the temperature, must be exactly right, and even then sometimes it "turns back," and is a failure.

Duke's Home-Made Mayonnaise

is made under the personal directions of the most famous cook in the Carolinas, and with exactly the same ingredients as you yourself use. It is not a cooked dressing, but a fresh egg, home-made mayonnaise packaged in glass jars that will keep it indefinitely. Not even in your own kitchen can you make such delicious mayonnaise—flavored as perfectly as DUKE'S.

THREE ROBBERY CASES REPORTED TO POLICE

Three robberies occurred in Atlanta Friday. Between 7 o'clock and 11 in the evening, robbers smashed the front-door glass of I. F. Jordan's ladies' dry goods store, 303 Edgewood avenue, then opened the door and took 14 ladies' coats, 24 skirts and 12 dresses, among other things.

Mr. Jordan, who sleeps in the rear of the store, discovered the fact on returning from town at 11:30 o'clock. He estimates his loss at $500. Call Officers W. A. Goode and W. H. Dodd investigated the case, but found no clue.

A $200 velvet dress, being taken to Mrs. Gordon Kiser, of 1075 Peachtree street by a motorcycle parcel delivery boy was stolen Friday night from the motorcycle while it was parked for a few minutes in front of 683 Peachtree street.

MAN AND DAUGHTER INSTANTLY KILLED AS CAR CAPSIZES

Greenville, S. C., November 11.—J. E. Barton, of Anderson, president of the Barton Lumber company, and a young daughter were killed almost instantly, and two women were seriously injured, when Mr. Barton's automobile turned turtle on the National highway near Greenville today afternoon. The party was coming to Greenville to attend a historic pageant. The car skidded in a sand bed and turned over, killing Barton and his daughter, who were sitting on the front seat, were pinned under the car. The three women, all of Anderson, whose names were not learned this afternoon, were riding on the back seat and they were thrown out of the car. They were taken to the Anderson hospital.

Graveyards Will Be Searched Here For Buried Loot

Police Believe They Have Captured Bold Robber in David Lareau.

In search of buried treasure, Atlanta policemen will visit, Saturday morning, a number of places, included among which are some graveyards, designated in the notebook of a young man arrested Friday night as the hiding place of loot. Names and addresses of local citizens found among the memoranda in the youth's possession, some of whom were, police believe, prospective victims of the law will be put in motion to investigate data relative to supposed transactions in various parts of the United States and Canada.

David Lareau, aged 20, who gave his address as the Grand hotel, is the young man in question. As the result of his active observation of Harry S. Williams, who operates a bicycle shop at 120 Edgewood avenue, Lieutenant of Detectives Ed P. Ryan and Detective H. W. Armstrong, "caught" the man in the act, they say of entering a store at 106 Edgewood avenue, after having broken the lock from the door and thrown it into the street.

Mr. Williams stated that the actions of the man, who seemed to be loitering in the vicinity of the store longer than was natural, had so attracted his attention that he deemed it best to inform the officers.

The young man was found to have his possession of diagrams of the working of various burglar alarm systems, numbers of offices in the Canandaigua and other cities, besides other data which will be carefully investigated by the police.

Lareau had on two previous occasions, police state, spent the night at headquarters as a "sleeper." They say that on one occasion he gave the name of A. Martin, and on another that of B. Larry. He was found to have registered at the Grand hotel October 25 and November 6 and 9.

HOOVER NOT TO ATTEND PURE FOOD SHOW HERE

Mayor Key has received from Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, a letter stating that he will be unable to attend the pure food and household exhibition to be held in Atlanta December 12, and expressing his regret on that account. Mr. Hoover stated that his presence at the disarmament conference in Washington would prevent him from attending.

New York, November 11.—Reductions in freight rates which will affect the cost in the wages of nearly 750,000 employees of railroads north of the Ohio, Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi, decided upon today at a meeting of railway executives will probably be taken up with the interstate commerce commission by executives of the lines tomorrow. A committee was appointed to go to Washington and discuss the best means of bringing about the establishment of lower freight tariffs.

Asks More Money To Fight Sabbath Employment Plan

Atlantic City, N. J., November 11. Rev. Henry L. Bowdler, of East Orange, N. J., urged the executive committee of the Presbyterian general assembly today to increase the appropriation of $21,000, which he received last year for the Sabbath observance work of the church to $31,000, declaring that strong interests were working against him in his efforts to do away with Sunday employment in certain shops.

He seeks more effectively to cope with Sunday movies and baseball, and the seven-day-a-week shop, he said.

The commission, sitting as a committee of the whole, made its first actual step today to hear the claims of the boards and agencies for appropriations for the coming year. On Tuesday the synodical chairman will arrive and while in session here they will gather data regarding the annual report of the synod which will have to contribute to the general treasury.

RAIL PAY CUTS WILL BE POSTED

Chicago, November 11.—Notices calling for wage reductions for railroad employees are expected to be posted by practically all of the class A railroads of the country within two weeks.

According to executive plans, the eastern roads will post notices of intentions to cut the wages of all classes of employees next week. Western and southwestern carriers are expected to follow the eastern lead.

The eastern carriers have already decided to post such notices next week on all roads north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi river.

Western executives have made a similar decision.

Before the notices are posted, however, according to executives here, a committee of the American association of railroad executives will confer with the interstate commerce commission at Washington and discuss lower freight rates on basic commodities. It is the intention of the carriers, it was stated, to translate the reductions sought into reduced freight costs in the hope of stimulating business.

Cleveland, Ohio, November 11.—A purse containing $10,000 was presented to Dr. Charles Franklin Tawing as he formally withdrew today from the presidency of Western Reserve university as a token of gratitude for his 31 years of service as head of the institution. The gift came from the trustees and friends at a farewell gathering of the alumni.

Dr. James D. Williamson, vice-president of Adelbert college and trustee of Western Reserve university, was designated temporary president pending appointment of Dr. Tawing's successor.

Greenwood, S. C., November 11.—Deputy Sheriff T. L. Cann shot and killed Police Officer H. B. Cannon, wounded Police Officer Clarence Crawford and was himself perhaps mortally wounded, in the opera house at Abbeville last night.

According to officers, Cann created a disturbance in the office of the opera house during a performance of a minstrel show. Shortly after the show closed, Officers Crawford and Stevenson attempted to take him out of the place, when Cann ordered them not to approach him and began firing. Crawford was wounded in the mouth and was carried to the street by Stevenson. Officer Cannon then attempted to persuade Cann to leave the building, a duel between the two resulted, in which Cannon was instantly killed and Cann was seriously wounded through the lung. Cann went alone after the shooting, and is under guard of officers. Physicians say his chances of recovery are doubtful. Crawford will recover.

GEORGIA $1,000,000 FUND OVERSCRIBED

final total would be substantially more than the $1,000,000 goal fixed at the beginning of the four weeks' campaign.

Held on "Armistice day," the final day of the campaign, the last luncheon in the drive was presided by a deep spirit of patriotism and of reverence of the memory of the sons of the University of Georgia who died in the war three years before. The work in the memorial campaign was closely linked by the speakers to the loyal service rendered their country or the University of Georgia men who died in the war and for whose memory the money will be expended.

Cup Given Hirsch.

One outstanding feature of the meeting was the presentation of a loving cup to Harold Hirsch by the team workers and their captains. The highest tribute to the work done by Mr. Hirsch and of the love and esteem in which he is held by the old Georgia men was paid by Cam Dorsey in a short speech in which he characterized Mr. Hirsch as "Georgia's model alumnus." Warm praise also was bestowed on Mr. Hirsch by all the speakers who appeared on the program.

Another interesting feature was the introduction to the team workers of Dr. E. L. Connally, father of Captain Joe Brown Connally, alumnus of the University of Georgia, who was killed in the service and to whose memory a tablet recently was erected at the university.

In opening the meeting Chairman Hirsch told the Georgia men that their presence at the luncheon on Armistice day was a living monument to the memory of the Georgia boys who died in the war and said he knew of no better way in which they could pay them tribute. He then introduced as the first speaker Dr. A. M. Soule, head of the state college of agriculture.

Dr. Soule said he had just returned from a trip to Louisiana and contrasted the way in which the state of Louisiana supports the university with the manner in which the state of Georgia supports its university.

Support Louisiana.
"In Louisiana they have just raised $7,000,000 for the Louisiana State university, and they have adopted a mill tax, which will give the university an income of $1,000,000 a year for maintenance," he said.

Dr. Soule then told the Georgia men that he is now in one of the most unhappy situations of his career.

"First, I want to say that I love the University of Georgia with every fiber of my being. But I am now in a dilemma which I don't know how to solve. I have been offered a position with an educational institution in another state which will pay me more than twice what I am getting in Georgia. But as I look out at these dear Georgia faces I can tell you that my heart now is 90 per cent toward Georgia and only 10 per cent somewhere else," he said.

Dr. Soule then closed with a tribute to Chancellor David C. Barrow.

"God might have made a better man than Chancellor Barrow but God never did," he said.

After complimenting three Atlanta daily newspapers for the aid and support they have given the campaign, Chairman Hirsch declared it was impossible for the Georgia alumni to express their keen appreciation of the many acts the papers have done for the cause. He then introduced Clark Howell, editor of The Constitution and member of the board of trustees of the university.

Congratulates Dr. Soule.

Mr. Howell congratulated Dr. Soule on his speech and expressed pleasure over the fact that Dr. Soule had given the first intimation that he might not leave his present work to take up work in other fields. He referred to the cases of Dr. Soule and Dr. K. G. Matheson, head of Georgia Tech, both of whom had been offered much higher pay for their services by smaller institutions located in other states.

"It is mortifying and humiliating to me, as a Georgian, to know that when other states are fighting and begging to get such a man as Dr. Soule in their service, and offer twice the salary he is now receiving, our own state legislature cuts his salary from $8,000 to $5,000 a year. To my mind Dr. Soule is the biggest asset Georgia has."

"Here we are the richest state in the southeast," Mr. Howell continued. "We are the Empire State of the South and yet today we are starving our educational institutions in a more miserably way than any other state in the union. No state can stand still, and we are sinking backward. We have reached the point now in Georgia where we must decide what we are going to do about our educational institutions."

Mr. Howell then congratulated the Georgia men who took up the million-dollar drive.

Not Allowed to Go Back.

"When our general assembly gave a negative answer to your plea, you young men of the University of Georgia showed, by your splendid action, that the university is not going to be allowed to go back," he said.

Mr. Howell then paid earnest tribute to the services given the university by Harold Hirsch. He told of how Mr. Hirsch had given up his large legal interests and had devoted his entire time and energy to the campaign for the university.

"When you see a man like Harold Hirsch laying aside his business, shutting up his desk and devoting his time, money, enthusiasm and energy to this cause, it should be an inspiration to every young man in Georgia," he asserted.

Mr. Howell then reviewed events leading to the establishment of the agricultural college. He told of making a visit to the University of Wisconsin many years ago, and of the great help the State College of Agriculture is giving the farmers of Georgia during the present times of stress. He criticized the "cheese-paring methods" of the general assembly in connection with its support of the state's educational institutions. He then made a plea for better support for all state educational institutions and said the university men of Georgia, in this drive, had performed a wholesome service in educating the people of Georgia to the educational needs of the state.

"This success means more for the state of Georgia than anything that has happened in twenty years," he concluded.

Dr. Connally Introduced.

Dr. Connally then was introduced to the meeting by Chairman Hirsch, after which the teams made their reports. When team No. 5 was called, Captain Cam Dorsey made a short talk, in which he praised Chairman Hirsch for his work, and on behalf of the team and team captains, presented him with a beautiful silver loving cup.

"We present this to show our appreciation not only of your leadership but of your loyalty and constant service on all occasions," Mr. Dorsey said.

Chairman Hirsch was overwhelmed with emotion, but made a short speech of acceptance, in which he expressed keen and deep appreciation of the work of the team members, declaring that the success of the campaign in Fulton county was due to their efforts.

Eugene K. Black was introduced as a man of a perfect record in the historical interest Armistice day bears. He compared the Versailles peace meeting with the meeting which is to be held at Washington, and said that both mark epochs in the world's history which hardly can be overestimated.

Mr. Black paid a beautiful and eloquent tribute to the unknown soldier buried in Arlington cemetery, and said he might be a University of Georgia boy.

"No matter who the unknown soldier is, he typifies all that the University of Georgia boys died for," he said.

Mr. Black referred to the case Dr. Soule and Dr. Matheson, saying it was "pitiable" that such a situation could arise in Georgia.

Plea for Education.

"Let's not talk about Georgia being the richest state in the south any more. Let's not talk of Georgia being the best state and the greatest state until we have wiped out the stigma of the young people of Georgia. Let's not talk of the policy adopted toward these two distinguished educators. The salvation of Georgia lies in the future education of the young people of Georgia. You young men just keep up this good work and maybe you will educate the people of Georgia to a point where they will realize the fact that they are entitled to a great university."

Mr. Black then advised that more attention be paid to the political phases of the university situation and that concerted action be taken to elect friends to the University of Georgia to the legislature. Mr. Black concluded his speech by telling several amusing stories which kept the big crowd laughing.

Athens Holds Celebration.

Athens, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Never before in the history of the University of Georgia have there been such celebrations in Athens as today. The day was marked by the successful close of the million-dollar war memorial fund drive Friday afternoon.

Chancellor Barrow, in a red cap, was the first one to pull the rope of the old chapel bell that began ringing at 5 o'clock, celebrating the great victory ever won by Georgia, and which continued to ring until the wee small hours of the morning Saturday.

Harry Hodgson, general chairman of the drive, was the next one to pull the rope and was followed by faculty members.

According to the reports received at campaign headquarters here at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon, $1,020,000 has already been subscribed to the war memorial fund, and reports from various sections of the state continue to show that it is expected that when the last report is received the funds subscribed will be far in excess of a million dollars.

Harry Hodgson, general chairman of the war memorial drive, and other officials who have been active in the drive expressed complete satisfaction over the collection in Athens, and together with the Georgia student body, are celebrating Georgia's victory tonight.

Chancellor Gratified.

Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the university, on being advised of the successful outcome of the drive, stated: "I find it hard to express my feelings. I am delighted at what I consider an amazing achievement to get over one million dollars with only two gifts greater than $5,000."

"I am grateful for the spirit which accomplished the result. I am most thankful that we will be able to do better service for the youth of Georgia. I am especially thankful that we have the support of the central committee, to the county chairmen and workers who carried out the drive, and to the successful conclusion, and all who worked, and all who gave, and all who wished well and prayed for this undertaking. I give my heartfelt thanks."

Thirty days ago, the University of Georgia alumni launched their drive to raise for the state's university a million dollars through popular subscription, to be used in the erection of a memorial to the sons of Georgia who gave their lives in the great conflict to build new and modern buildings for the university, and to provide money for the faculty members of the university who are miserably underpaid. Armistice day, just thirty days after the beginning, the million-dollar was recorded in the campaign office in Athens, and the executives breathed a sigh of satisfaction.

Many Take Part.

"This is a drive that has brought into it more people than perhaps any similar drive that has ever been launched in the United States," declared Harry Hodgson, chairman-general, Friday afternoon, in discussing the successful completion of the million-dollar campaign. "It is estimated that more than 4,500 alumni and friends of the University of Georgia have participated in this movement, that is, the largest place in the history of Georgia on the same plane with the other great universities of America, and many of these have made genuine sacrifices in order that they might not be left out of the movement."

Among the additional subscriptions reported at campaign headquarters Friday afternoon were $43,000 additional for Atlanta and Fulton counties, $8,750 for Mitchell county, $2,000 for Clarke county and $21,412 for the women of Savannah. It was reported late Friday afternoon that Dougherty county has raised its quota.

Among the counties that had not been heard from when the report of $1,020,000 was made were Thomas, Terrell, Coweta and Walton.

WOODPECKER ROUTE OFFICIALLY INSPECTED

Waycross, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—The official tour of inspection of the new Woodpecker Route left Jacksonville this morning at 6 o'clock and passed through Waycross at 9 o'clock. The party was joined here by additional cars and left immediately for the final lap of the journey to Augusta.

A number of telegrams received from cities along the route indicate that by the time the party reaches Augusta, the number of cars in the party will have increased to 25.

At Augusta, the party will be the guest of the Augusta Automobile club, and the chamber of commerce at a reception given in their honor. The purpose of the tour is to determine the exact condition of the roads, and serve also as the formal opening of what is expected to be one of the most important highways in the state.

MINERS TO ASSIST UNAUTHORIZED STRIKE

Peoria, Ill., November 11.—A resolution proposed that $500,000 be contributed monthly by Illinois miners to aid striking Kansas miners was passed at the annual convention of Illinois mine workers today. The money will be raised by a monthly assessment of $1.00.

The resolution provided that the assessment would be collected "until the fight in Kansas is won," and provided that a committee of three be appointed to assist in the distribution of money.

"We are of the opinion," the resolution said, "that the recent international convention made a serious mistake when dealing with the Deep River Reliance trouble in Kansas, as the action of the international convention was in complete disregard of the needs of organized labor, the sponsor and champions of the Kansas industrial law."

"We are of the opinion that the international president, John L. Lewis, erred when he removed from office President Hovatt and the other executive officers of District No. 14, without even giving to them an opportunity to comply with action of the official convention."

Protracted Services.
Barnesville, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Rev. Arthur Jackson, pastor, will begin a protracted service at the First Baptist church here Sunday, which is expected to continue for two weeks. Dr. Frank L. Hardy, of Newnan, will arrive Monday to do the preaching. Professor C. M. Eller will conduct the music. The pastor and his committee have been preparing for the meeting. One service will be held at the Mildred theater at 2 to 2:30 o'clock each afternoon, and the other at 7 o'clock in the evening.

LAMAR COUNTY PAYS TRIBUTE TO WAR HEROES

Barnesville, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Armistice day was observed by the citizens and Lamar county, all business houses closing for the program which was rendered in Gordon auditorium. Beginning at 10:30 o'clock, the ceremonies were presided over by Dr. E. T. Holmes.

There were nearly a hundred ex-service men from Lamar county present. Following musical and reading numbers by Mrs. Malcolm Jones, Mrs. Eugene Armstrong, Miss Marion Bush and Miss Edna Morris, Colonel Claude Christopher, an ex-service man, made the principal address of the occasion, in which he appealed for a continuation of the spirit of patriotism and fellowship which prevailed during the great war.

Professor T. O. Galloway told of the sixth district school's part in the war, and Dr. E. T. Holmes spoke on Gordon's contribution. After these exercises all the ex-service men were guests at a dinner at Gordon dormitory prepared and given by the Woman's Christian Temperance union, of Barnesville.

WOULD AVERT STRIKE OF GARMENT WORKERS

New York, November 11.—A proposition to avert the threatened strike of 50,000 garment workers here next Monday, was offered by Benjamin Schlesinger, president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union, in a letter made public tonight to the twelve United States senators who had made efforts today to prevent the strike.

After reviewing the past relations between the employers and the workers which led to the creation of a bipartisan commission last June which was to consider means of increasing production in the trade and report November 1, he wrote:

"If the employers' association will consent before November 14 to continue operations under the terms of the existing agreement upon the understanding that the joint commission report of the express office.

The ceremony which means a return of friendly relations between Germany and the United States, took place at 6:30 o'clock this afternoon. This came by telephone late this afternoon, and the American commissioner, accompanied by Frederick R. Dubois, secretary of the American mission, motored to the foreign office, where they were received by Dr. Wirth and Dr. Hans von Hainhausen, under secretary for foreign affairs.

LIMIT ARMAMENT, ATLANTANS URGE

Gathered together in solemn consideration of the question of disarmament as reflected by the forthcoming conference in Washington, prominent citizens of Atlanta, at a mass meeting held at the Baptist Tabernacle, Friday night at 7:45 o'clock, passed a resolution urging the conference to formulate plans for limiting armaments.

After the singing of "America," Eugene R. Black, who presided, introduced as first speaker of the evening Mayor Key, who made a few preliminary remarks introductory to the speeches that were to follow.

Mayor Key called to mind the necessity of considering the problems of war and its prevention in the aftermath of the recent struggle and declared the spirit, which he said, so often characterized the American people of dodging world issues and taking an isolated attitude toward vital questions of international importance.

Some Wars Justifiable. W. S. Wier, representing the American Federation of Labor, declared that while there were wars in the history of the nation that were justifiable, such as the American revolution, there were other wars and conflicts predatory in their nature that must be done away with.

Mr. Wier's address dealt with the economical as well as the political side of the question and suggested the possibility in the future of class wars rather than national conflicts, unless existing evils are corrected.

Last on the program for the evening was Dr. Ashley Jones, who deprecated the stand taken by America in discounting many of those who participated in the recent conflict, and discrediting those who guided the nation through the trial period. Speaking of the unknown soldier, whom America paused in honor, Dr. Jones said:

"I care not whether he came from the rock-ribbed hills of New England, from the sunny shores of the Pacific, or from under southern skies, he is known all over America. Today a nation forgot its commerce and its politics because a boy died for the flag he loved."

"You cannot make a nation great, unless a nation's youth is willing to die, if need be, for that nation. But are we to go on in selfish greed, that when the catastrophe comes again such youths, who are willing to make the sacrifice, will be called on to do so."

Most Ameliorate Conditions. "Are we to go on without trying to ameliorate conditions. Such a civilization that would demand the sacrifice in each emergency to preserve itself, when conditions might be changed, would not be worth saving."

A government ought to protect the lives of its citizens, and if need be, by force. But what protection to human lives has war? We take the best of our civilization, the youth of the land, the earnest hope, the battle, and only the ineffective, the defective are left. Oh, the sunshine and laughter that is buried on the field of war. How much unfulfilled promise is buried there. Can we think of no better way of sheltering the youth of the world than by force?"

Expressing his earnest hope that the United States might be able to retrieve whatever prestige might have been lost in the rejection of the treaty of Versailles, by the present conference on disarmament, Dr. Jones closed his remarks, receiving general applause.

After the addresses of the evening, resolutions were introduced and passed, urging the conference in Washington to promulgate measures that would limit armament in a decided way, and calling upon the American delegates to take the lead in the move. Copies of the resolution will be sent to President Harding, and the American delegates to the conference.

Resolutions Passed. The resolutions follow:

Whereas, the conference on the limitation of armaments, now convening in Washington, gives to the nations the opportunity to keep faith with our soldier dead by completing their work and making an end of the suffering and burdens imposed by war;

Whereas, today 70 per cent of all mankind live under governments described as "Christian," and, therefore, the people of Atlanta, in mass meeting assembled, do hereby express our approval of the great service rendered by President Harding in calling the conference, thus making it possible for the nations under the dominion of God to work out a plan for world-wide peace; be it further

Resolved, That we respectfully call to the attention of the delegates representing governments described as "Christian," and now controlling the great majority of the world, the responsibility for war or peace, now resting upon them by reason of the dominant position held by their nations; be it further

Resolved, That we respectfully urge our delegates to the conference to our delegates to take the lead, expected from our country, in proposing and urging practical plans for the limitation of the armaments of the world, in standing for exact justice to all nations, and in condemning every proposal which may result in the exploitation or unjust domination of any people on earth; be it further proval of the high words of hope, spoken by America's president.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the president, to our delegates in the conference, and to the press.

Nation Pours Out Heart. At day long the nation poured out its heart in pride and glory for the nameless American. Before the first crash of the minute guns roared its knell for the dead from the shadow of Washington monument, the people who claim him as their own were trooping out to do him honor. They lined the long road from the capital to the hillside, where he sleeps tonight; they flowed like a tide over the slopes about his burial place; they choked the bridges that lead across the river to the field of the brave in which he lies the latest.

As he was carried past through the banks of humanity that lined Pennsylvania avenue, a solemn reverent hush held the living walls. Yet there was not so much of sorrow as of high pride in it all, a pride beyond the reach of the shouting and the clamor that marks less sacred moments in life's history.

Out there in the broad avenue was a simple soldier, dead for honor of the flag. He was nameless. No man knew what part in the great life of the nation he had filled when last he passed over his home soil. But in France he had died as Americans always have been ready to die for the flag and what it means. They read the message of the present clear, these silent thousands along the way. They stood in almost holy awe to take their own part in what was theirs, the glory of the American people honored here in the honors showered on America's nameless son from France.

All Have Part. All have part in the thrilling spectacle as the cortege rolled along. And just behind the military band, the French flowers on the draped flag, walked the president, the chosen leader of a hundred millions in whose name he was chief mourner at this hour. Beside him, strode the man under whom the fallen hero had lived and died in France, General Pershing, wearing only the single medal of victory that every American soldier might wear as his only decoration.

And then, row on row, came the great men who lead the nation today or have guided its destinies before. They were all there, walking proudly, with age and frailties of the flesh forgotten. Judges, senators, representatives, highest officers of every military arm of the government, and a trudging little group of the nation's monks, the chosen sons, the chosen men. Some were gray and bent and drooping with old wounds; some trim and erect as the day they won their way to fame. All walked gladly in this nameless comrade's last parade.

Behind these came the carriage in which rode Woodrow Wilson, also stricken down by infirmities as he served in the highest place of the nation just as the humble private before a shell or bullet. For that dead man's sake the former president had put aside his dread of seeming to intrude his physical weakness, and risked health, perhaps life, to appear among the mourners for the fallen. There was a handclapping and a cheer here and there for the man in the carriage, a tribute to the spirit that brought him to honor the nation's nameless hero whose commander-in-chief he had been.

Between Human Borders. After President Harding and most of the high dignitaries of government had turned aside at the white house the procession headed by its solid blocks of soldiers and sailors, and the plain folk who trudged the long way just to glimpse the pageant from afar, were finding their places. Everywhere within the pillared enclosure bright uniforms of foreign soldiers appeared. They were laden with the jeweled orders of rank and merit, worn to honor an American private soldier greater than any there in the majesty of his sacrifices, in the tribute his honors paid to all Americans who died.

Down below the platform placed for the casket, in a stone vault, lay wreaths and garlands brought from England's king and guarded by British soldiers. To them came the British ambassador in the full uniform of his rank, to bid them keep these tributes from overseas safe against that hour.

Men of History Meet. Above the platform gathered men whose names ring through history—Briand, Foch, Balfour, Jacques, Diaz and others in a brilliant array of place and power. They were followed by others—Baron Kato, from Japan; the Italian statesmen and officers, by the notables from all countries gathered here for tomorrow's conference, and by some of the older figures in American life, too old to walk beside the approaching funeral train.

Down around the circling pillars the marble boxes filled with distinguished men and women, with a cluster of shattered men from army hospitals, accompanied by uniformed nurses, a surprised choir took its place to await the dead.

Faint and distant the silvery strains of a military band stole into the big white bowl of the amphitheater. The slow cadences and mourning notes of a funeral march grew clearer and the roll and mutter of the muffled drums. At the arch, where the choir waited, the hero comrades of the dead lifted his casket down and, followed by the generals and the admirals who had walked beside him from the capital, he was carried to the place of honor. Ahead moved the white-robed singers, chanting solemnly.

Carefully the casket was placed above the hallowed flowers and the marine band played sacred melodies until the moment the president and Mrs. Harding stepped to their places beside the casket, then the crashing, triumphant chords of "The Star Spangled Banner" swept the gathering to its feet again.

Prayer, Then "Attention." A prayer, carried out over the crowd by amplifiers so that no word was missed, took a moment or two, then the sharp, clear call of the bugle rang "attention" and for two minutes the crowd stood at pause for the dead, just at high noon.

No sound broke the quiet as all stood with bowed heads. It was such as though a mighty hand had checked the world in full course. Then the band sounded and in a mighty chorus rolled up the words of "America" from the hosts within and without the crowd, open hall of valor. President Harding stepped forward beside the coffin to say for America the thing that today was nearest to the nation's heart, that sacrifice, such as this nameless man, fallen in battle, might, perhaps, be made unnecessary down through the coming years.

Every word that President Harding spoke reached every person through the amplifiers, and reached other thousands upon thousands in New York and San Francisco.

Mr. Harding showed strong emotion as he spoke the last words of the address. He paused, then with raised hand and head bowed, went on in the measured, rolling period of the Lord's Prayer. The response that came back to him from the thousands he faced, from the other thousands over the slopes beyond, perhaps from still other thousands away near the Pacific or close packed into the heart of the nation's greatest city, rose like a chant. The marble arches hummed with the solemn sound.

Nations Pay Homage. Then the foreign officers who stand highest among the soldiers or sailors of their flags came one by one to the hier to place gold and jeweled emblems for the brave above the breast of the sleeper. Already, as the great prayer ended, the president had set the American seal of admiration for the valiant, the nation's love for brave and the courage that defies death, upon the casket.

Side by side he laid the medal of honor and the distinguished service cross. And below, set in place with reverent hands, grew the long line of foreign honors, the Victoria cross, never before laid on the breast of any but those who had served the English flag; all the highest honors of France, Belgium, Italy, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

To General Jacques, of Belgium, it remained to add his own touch to these honors. He tore from the breast of his own tunic the medal of valor pinned there by the Belgian king, tore it with a sweeping gesture, and tenderly bestowed it on the unknown American warrior.

Through the religious services that followed and the prayers, the swelling crowd sat motionless until it rose to join in the old, consoling words of "Rock of Ages," and the last life for the dead was at hand. Lifted by his hero bearers from the stage, the unknown was carried in his flag-wrapped, simple coffin, out to the wide sweep of the terrace.

The bearers laid the sleeper down above the crypt in which had been placed a little of the soil of France. The dust his blood helped redeem from alien hands, will mingle with his dust as time marches by.

Simple Burial Ritual. The simple words of the burial ritual were said by Bishop Brent, flowers from War Mothers of America and England were laid in place. For the Indians of America, Chief Plentyfoot came to call upon the great spirit of the Redmen with gesture and chant and trial of his trial office and, for the feathered war bonnet from his own head. Then the casket with its weight of honors was lowered into the crypt.

A rocking blast of gunfire rang from the woods. The glittering circle of bayonets stiffened to a salute to the dead. Again the guns shouted their message of honor and farewell to a loyal comrade who was being laid to his last, long rest.

High and clear and true in the echoes of the guns, a bugle lifted the old, notes of taps, the lullaby for the living soldier, in death his requiem chant. Long ago some forgotten soldier poet caught its meaning clear, and set it down that soldiers everywhere might know its message as they sing to rest:

"Taps: the light; "Geth day, cometh night; "And a star; "Lendeth all, speedeth all; "To their rest." The guns roared out again in the national salute.

He was home, the unknown, to sleep forever among his own kind.

MONSTER MEETING HELD IN NEW YORK. New York, November 11.—The notes of the bugle blowing "attention," and, later, "taps," over the tomb of the unknown American soldier in Arlington cemetery, the distant thump of the guns firing the salute and the voice of President Harding speaking the nation's resolve to profit by the lesson of the boys' sacrifice were heard in New York by 25,000 persons, including 1,000 gold-star mothers, in Madison Square Garden, as distinctly as though all had been present in person at the national cemetery.

Fifteen thousand people were within the garden, in a gloomy gray light diffused through a sky-cloth of slate color. Ten thousand more were gathered in the street outside the old Moorish building and in the asphalt lanes of Madison square. Through the same uncanny agency that permitted the throng within the garden to participate in the funeral ceremonies, they, too, heard all that was said.

*The Nations Meet in Washington To-Day!
A World Looks On—Anxious—Hoping—*

"Humanity with all its fears,
With all the hope of future years,
Is hanging breathless on thy fate!"

Washington Will Be the Capital of the World During the Arms Congress. There the question will be decided whether the civilized peoples of the world are to abjure war, and whether the battleship and siege-gun are to become as obsolete as the Roman catapult. Hundreds of millions are watching anxiously. The great Conference is being discussed in every civilized country on earth. What are they all saying about it? What are their hopes, and fears, and criticisms, and demands? Is it necessary not only to know our own mind but to know also the view-point of all other peoples, especially of those most vitally concerned in the outcome.

Therefore The Literary Digest has gathered from all the four corners of the earth the opinions of statesmen and people as reflected in their press. This is one of the great features of the November 12th issue, now on sale.

The Composite Mind of the British Empire is disclosed, as from that far-flung "dominion over palm and pine" come evidences of a spontaneous entente between the English-speaking peoples of the earth. The Literary Digest presents the views of England, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, and the British West Indies.

The Spirit of Japan Is Revealed Through Her Native Press. Important translations show the attitude of the Japanese toward the Conference and their opinions on the Chinese question, naval bases established by the United States in the Pacific, disarmament of navies, neutrality of the Panama Canal, and other troublesome problems.

China's Voice Is Heard through this Congress of Press and Popular Opinion which is gathered in the Literary Digest.

France Speaks Frankly the Things in Her Heart, and her views are open for all the world to read in this week's Literary Digest.

All Europe, from The Hague to Constantinople, is represented in this World Forum, and a study of the composite mind of European and Eastern peoples toward the Arms Congress and the issues to be decided there is of vital interest to all Americans. Nowhere else can this be found. If you want to know the real feeling of the world toward the effort for reduction of armaments now being made in Washington you must have this issue of THE LITERARY DIGEST.

MANY STARTLING FACTS, known to the Conference, will influence any action it may take. These facts are not easily accessible to the public. Without them intelligent discussion is impossible. There is one way to get a comprehensive grasp of the many facts which must be weighed and related before any conclusion can be reached. THE LITERARY DIGEST has with great care gathered these facts, and made them plain with diagrams, pictures, charts, and maps, in its ISSUE OF NOVEMBER 12th, which is

CHARGES ARE DROPPED AGAINST CHRISTIANSEN

After a thorough investigation the charges against John C. Christiansen, solicitor for W. & H. Walker, Inc., of Pittsburgh, manufacturers of toilet articles, were Friday dismissed by the county police.

Christiansen had been taken into custody on complaint that he had represented that a portion of the proceeds from the sale of his goods would go to the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children. However, it is claimed that a per cent of the receipts will go to the Sewickley Fresh Air home, at Sewickley, Pa., and that Mr. Christiansen was not the one who started the Scottish Rite home would profit from his activities.

Gets Fine Start

From the mayor to the whitewashing, and from bank presidents to newspaper editors, the American Red Cross met with hearty response in its annual roll call which began in Atlanta yesterday, Armistice day.

That the results of the first day's work of enrolling members was extremely gratifying was the announcement made by C. B. Bidwell, Atlanta chapter chairman, and Mrs. R. K. Rambo, director of the women's division of the roll call.

Women workers reported that they met with enthusiastic response and splendid co-operation on every hand. A worker at the Terminal station said that she approached a traveling man who smiled as soon as he saw her Red Cross uniform.

"Give me a button," he said. "I joined in Birmingham, and I joined in Memphis, and I guess I can join in Atlanta."

Working against holiday odds, the women untiringly canvassed the city office buildings, and when they checked up their day's returns at headquarters it was with optimism that they recounted their varied experiences, and volunteered to be on hand promptly at 8 o'clock for the second day of the roll call.

Faculties from seven city schools have reported 100 new memberships. The chairmen and schools are: Marietta street, Miss Annie Lewis; North avenue, Miss Ella Smilie; Williams street, Miss Sally G. Nolan; George W. Adair, Miss Lucille Nolan; Spring street, Miss Jo Berman; Inman Park, Miss Nell Gattins; Ivy street, Miss Mary Barker.

An additional 100 per cent firm is that of May's French Dry Cleaning company.

"Atlanta heretofore has always led the south in the preceding roll calls," stated Mr. Bidwell, "and we expect to do so again this year. Cities like Augusta, Macon, Montgomery and Jacksonville are working very hard, and we must not let them overtake us. Atlanta is the center of the south headquarters for the Red Cross. The scope of Red Cross work for public health and ex-service aid is bigger here than in any southern city."

LEASING OF PLANT TO HELP RELIEVE WATER SHORTAGE

It is expected that the leasing of the plant No. 2 at Muscle Shoals to the Alabama Power company as announced Thursday morning by Secretary of War Weeks will, in some measure, bring relief to the power shortage which has prevailed for some time past in the southeast.

Application for leasing of the plant was made some time ago by the Alabama Power company in efforts to relieve the shortage of power which threatened to affect Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama, North Carolina and South Carolina. This request was joined in by the railroad commission of Alabama and of Georgia, and by H. M. Atkinson, chairman of the board of directors of the Georgia Railway and Power company. Mr. Atkinson appealed for a lease of the plant in the interest of the people of the state affected.

Already many industries in North Carolina have shut down, due to the shortage of power, on account of the drought. For some weeks past an arrangement effected through Mr. Atkinson, the Georgia Railway and Power company has been taking power from the Alabama Power company, and in turn, transmitting it to North Carolina to relieve the situation there.

It is expected that the releasing of the plant at Muscle Shoals will be a long step towards bringing relief, since it will immediately increase the power output to a considerable extent. It is not known yet whether this plant will have a sufficient capacity to meet the shortage due to the extreme drought.

POLICE CO-OPERATE IN SEEKING DRIVER WHO HURT WOMAN

In co-operation with the police of East Point the police of Atlanta and the county force have been conducting a rigid search for the unidentified driver of the auto which Thursday night ran down and seriously injured Mrs. J. C. Suttles, of College Park, at the junction of the Hapeville car line in East Point. However, up to a late hour Friday night he had not been apprehended.

Dr. J. P. Henley, who treated Mrs. Suttles after she was taken home, stated Friday that he did not find any broken bones, and no evidences of internal injuries. However, she sustained a partial fracture of the skull base. She was reported to be resting well Friday night.

WILLETT ELECTED
HEAD OF ATLANTA
CHAMBER JURORS

The November grand jury of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce met for its first meeting Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. R. K. Rambo, vice-president of the chamber, delivered the charge to the jury. Hugh M. Willett was elected foreman, Dr. L. M. White, vice-foreman, and C. R. Justi, clerk.

This is the third grand jury that has been called by the chamber and was attended by the largest number of its members that has ever met for a similar occasion. More than forty were present and Mr. Rambo in his charge to the jury, offered many suggestions for their guidance.

The purpose of the grand jury is to bring as many members as possible into active service for Atlanta. In a year's time every member will be offered the opportunity to express himself on civic affairs and to actively participate in chamber activities.

On the twenty-fifth of each month 250 names are drawn from the list, which number constitutes a majority of the members of the chamber, and these 250 men and women are asked to serve on the grand jury of the month following.

The next meeting has been called for Thursday, November 17, at 4 o'clock.

GREAT BOULEVARD PLANNED FOR CITY

Plans looking to the building of a 50-foot boulevard from Ponce de Leon avenue to Lakewood on the east side of Peachtree. This is the fastest growing section of Atlanta—that situated on Ponce de Leon way and on the east side of Peachtree. This is the fastest growing section in Atlanta and the relief of the opening of Courtland street would be greater than possible through the improving of any other street in the city, it is argued.

At the forthcoming meeting all the property owners on Courtland street are especially urged to attend. Also those on streets contiguous to Courtland and owners on the south side, including those of Washington street and Capitol avenue and others interested in this tremendous movement. The meeting was called by H. A. Alexander, temporary chairman of the Courtland Street Property Owners' association, who has been giving much of his time and efforts to the movement of late. Mr. Alexander has been in consultation with a number of experts and several of these will address the coming meeting.

While no definite steps have been taken to draw up either of the plans which are being formulated, they are in such shape as to be thoroughly discussed. When those interested have decided which will be the better, after all things are considered, a direct movement in city council and before the county commissioners will be undertaken. Already assurances of support by many citizens not directly affected, but who are looking to the future of Atlanta, is assured.

voted to the improvement of Courtland street. This plan will mean the most ambitious movement made in Atlanta in many years.

Other plans which will be discussed tend only towards the immediate improvement of Courtland street in such manner as to relieve much of the traffic congestion of Peachtree and form an inlet into the city from the greatest growing section of Atlanta—that situated on Ponce de Leon way and on the east side of Peachtree. This is the fastest growing section in Atlanta and the relief of the opening of Courtland street would be greater than possible through the improving of any other street in the city, it is argued.

TRIBUTE IS PAID TO WAR VICTIMS

hope and courage in the listening ears.

And then a band somewhere in the crowd softly began to play "The Star-Spangled Banner," a tri-colored banner fluttered a moment and then ran up the flag pole, and a feeling of great and profound thankfulness swept the assembled thousands.

Thoughts, like darts of flame in the night, flashed from war-torn France to peaceful America, and people awoke to the realization that three years had passed since the stalwart sons of the United States had flung themselves into battle with a cry of victory on their lips and a smile of supreme sacrifice upon their faces.

Peace Is Heart-Felt Prayer.

Peace, eternal and everlasting, was the heart-felt prayer in every bosom that thrilled to the notes of that anthem for which loved ones had fought and died in humanity's name.

With the full force of her great spirit, Atlanta joined with the rest of the nation, and with the whole world, in a silent protest against war. Simultaneously she reached across the continent to grasp the hand of the countless thousands in Arlington cemetery who were paying reverence to the unknown warrior who typified the dust of every man who bled and died in the world war.

The ceremonies were the most impressive that have ever marked an anniversary of the signing of the armistice that put an end to warfare between the nations of the earth, and if other cities and lands feel about war as Atlanta proved that she does, generations will have passed into dreamless silence before the world again recoils from the shock of human conflict.

Traffic Is Halted.

At 10:30 o'clock, all traffic was halted in the vicinity of Five Points, and down Peachtree street marched the martial procession that took part in the program. It included overseas officers of the Eighty-second division, half a dozen bands, the Georgia Tech B. O. T. C. corps and, in the big gathering, were students from high schools, colleges and civilians from all walks of life.

At 11 o'clock, the bugles sounded the moment that ended the war three years ago, and at its last notes, Dr. David Marx pronounced the invocation.

The oration of the day was delivered by Major George B. Whitsett, judge advocate of the Fourth army corps at Fort McPherson, who paid a glowing tribute to the spirit of America's war legions, and who voiced a strong plea for peace.

Referring to the plea for peace, voiced by Henry Grange, Major Whitsett deplored the fact that this country has been forced to take up arms twice since the famous Georgian delivered his Boston address.

"And so it is fitting, on this anniversary of the day which marked the close of the most frightful and the most far-reaching war of all annals," he said, "that we should recall the deeds of valor of its soldiers, lest we forget the stress of their victories gained and so minimize the influence of the lessons those victories should teach."

Replete With Inspiration.

"This day is replete with inspirations and emotions. In our minds are the names of many heroes, and when the name of each is called, the answer should be given: 'Dead upon the field of battle.'"

Then Captain J. B. Conners, of the 321st Field artillery regiment, read the list of Atlanta and Fulton county veterans who made the supreme sacrifice. Then Rev. William T. Stuchell delivered a brief oration, answering "Absent" for the men whose names had been called.

"These are all accounted for. Their bodies sleep, but their souls go marching on. For them was reserved the proud distinction of writing for all time that brave strength should never hold sway again in human affairs."

"Far better than the false philosophy of Shakespeare, but into the mouth of Mark Anthony, was the philosophy they exemplified in their noble death."

"Said Mark Anthony: 'The evil that men do lives after them, but the good is oft interred with their bones.'"

"Not that philosophy, but the philosophy of the divinely-inspired writer, was exemplified in the sacrifice of the men whose names we have just heard called. Their philosophy was this: 'The path of the just is to a shining light that shines more and more unto the perfect day.'"

Dr. Stuchell closed with the immortal poem of Kipling, "Lest We Forget."

As the bands took up the refrain of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," the flag on the Five Points pole was run up and the bands wound into "The Star-Spangled Banner," while soldiers stiffened into military salute, and the civilians stood with hats held in hand.

Two hundred representatives of Atlanta civic organizations occupied the stand at Five Points, and military organizations were grouped about in the form of crosses. They included Georgia national guard units, Georgia Tech, G. M. A., Fulton High and Boys' High and Marist college.

The Constitution's Weekly Novel

The Spoils of the Strong

BY ELEANOR TALBOT KINKEAD
(Copyright, 1921, for The Constitution.)

Next Week,

"The Single Track," by Douglas Grant, Starting Sunday.

For several moments after the slim form of Maria Douglas had disappeared from view, Evelyn sat with quiet, unobtrusive eyes looking off into the distance. All at once she rose and looked toward the gallery. Alfred was still sleeping, it seemed. But a cool little breeze had begun to stir, and her expression grew anxious. He must not have a chill. And thus without any sense of jar or confusion, but rather with a welcoming recognition of the work before her, she obeyed the summons back to duty and the loving task which was hers.

A moment afterward she was on the gallery and at his side. She bent over him and touched him gently on the arm.

"It is after five, dear, and you won't sleep well tonight if—"

All at once she drew back and stood perfectly motionless, while she grew marble white.

He was lying with his face toward the setting sun, the departing rays of which fell heavily upon his face. Beautiful he was in the majesty of death, and in the "rapture of repose" which held him.

Mrs. Chisholm laid aside her knitting, rubbed her eyes, blinked a little by the brilliant North Carolina sunshine flooding the room, and turned at the entrance of Drusie with the morning mail.

"What is this—oh, a package for Miss Evelyn. Take it to her at once, Drusie. And, by the way, where is she? That poor child spends far too much time alone. I must—"

At that moment Evelyn, very tall and slim in her black gown and tight little hat, with its loose floating veil, entered noiselessly.

"Child, how beautiful you are," Mrs. Chisholm exclaimed, softly. "Oh, here is something for you—just come today. I had almost forgotten it. A book, I suppose, from the look of it, and she handed out the package."

At first sight of the handwriting and the postmark Mrs. Chisholm's heart seemed for a full moment to stop. She knew at once that the volume in the brown paper wrapper was Geoffrey's, and that he had sent it himself, and not more formally through a publisher. It was the one communication, which had come to her from him since Alfred's death.

In silence she received it, waited a moment for Mrs. Chisholm's final directions, and quietly left the room.

But once out of sight of the house she moved rapidly down the path, her footsteps hastening on a cold, secluded spot, where she might feel safe from all intrusion.

Lyonesse—that faded leaf of romance—the "Journal." The very breath of poetry. How would Geoffrey treat his large theme? She opened the volume and began to read.

It was less than an hour when she delivered a brief oration, answering "Absent" for the men whose names had been called.

"These are all accounted for. Their bodies sleep, but their souls go marching on. For them was reserved the proud distinction of writing for all time that brave strength should never hold sway again in human affairs."

session was observance of Armistice day. Conference business was set aside for an hour, and appropriate exercises were held.

Bishop Candler delivered an address during the hour, in which he asserted that the very fact of an armistice parley is indication of the growing power and influence of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, without which there would never have been a conference.

He said the Lord of peace "is come, and world peace will only be attained as men come to recognize His gospel as the foundation, and selfishness is cast out in the act of serving. He thought selfishness to be the cause of all wars, and said selfishness of individuals is provoked by the effort to attain luxurious living.

America is in position to lead the world in the program of world peace, he said. In connection with the Armistice day observance a strong resolution of indorsement of the peace parley was passed by the conference representing Georgia Methodism, which will be sent to President Harding.

Davies Speaks.

M. M. Davies, of Atlanta, addressed the conference regarding the Wesley Memorial hospital, stating that the new hospital would be ready for occupancy before June, and that the sum of $250,000 had already been spent in its erection. The unit now being constructed will care for 225 patients, he said. Mr. Davies urged upon the conference the importance of the Christmas and Easter offer-

Pimples Denote Waste Products In The Blood

So Do Blackheads, Boils and Similar Skin Disorders.

The human system is forever striving to get rid of the waste products. It is a life-work which goes on forever. When waste products get in the blood, they cause a lowered vitality. As a result, we become subject to many painful and embarrassing ailments.

When these symptoms appear, Nature is warning us. To throw off the waste products, the blood must be purified. Don't clog your blood. Just clean it out. Nature will do the rest. Pure, rich, red blood nourishes the body and fights off diseases.

S. S. S., the standard blood purifier and system builder, is the ideal remedy for skin eruptions. The effect of S. S. S. is to rid the system of the waste products which are causing the trouble. The delegation from the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Atlanta, returned from Macon, Ga., where they have been in attendance the past week at the convention of the Lutheran synod of Georgia and adjacent states.

The representatives from the local church included the pastor, Rev. Karl L. Reiser; William B. Ahlgren, lay delegate, from the local congregation; Miss Laila McGraw, secretary of the Women's society of the synod; Mrs. Karl L. Reiser, delegate from the Women's prayer circle; Mrs. William B. Ahlgren, delegate from the Lutheran church of America, which meets in the Macon church.

The next convention of the synod will be held in Birmingham, the second week in November, 1922. The selection of Birmingham, by a vote of the synod, followed a keen rivalry with the city of Macon.

Reports were received at the convention from various educational institutions, and missionary extension activities of the Southern Lutheran bodies, and indicated substantial and encouraging growth in all lines.

Two church edifices have been completed during the past year, a $43,000 building at Birmingham, and a $7,000 building at Macon.

The total, it is expected, will exceed $8,000 when outlying districts have been heard from. The entire proceeds will be devoted to the maintenance of the synod.

Miss Laila McGraw, well known Atlanta church worker, was elected president of the synodical Women's missionary society, and Mrs. William B. Ahlgren was appointed as state junior missionary society secretary, and Mrs. J. C. Tegler as secretary for the immigrant missions.

Thirty thousand poppies were sold in Atlanta Friday, the little flowers being worn in memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war. The sale was conducted by the Atlanta chapter of the American Legion, which meets in the Buffalo, N. Y., in October, 1922, for its biennial session.

Man Said Dead By Sen. Watson May Be Living

San Antonio, Texas, November 11.—A request for an investigation into the death of Private Albert Purcell, at an army hospital in San Antonio, read before the senate by Senator Watson, of Georgia, appears to be based on a misunderstanding, according to army records which show that Private Purcell was absent without leave from the army at Brownsville, Texas, October 3, 1919.

Army records fail to show any proof that Purcell is dead, and hospital records show that he was never admitted to the army hospital in San Antonio.

According to press dispatches, Senator Watson read an telegram asking for the investigation without disclosing the identity of the sender. He said his informant had been unable to learn anything about the case at the war department and also said the private's death occurred at camp in San Antonio.

According to the army records, Private Purcell was a member of headquarters troop, of the sixteenth cavalry, stationed at Brownsville. For charging two sergeants in the company with bootlegging he was threatened with a "beating" by the men when they learned that he had furnished the officers with the information which caused their confinement.

Following their release there was an encounter between Purcell and the sergeants again were placed in confinement. Before they were released Purcell disappeared. Purcell's father lives in Cincinnati.

U. S. COAST GUARD OFFICER IS DEAD

New York, November 11.—Commodore Ellsworth Price Berthoff, retired commandant of the United States coast guard, died here today at the age of 51.

Commodore Berthoff was born in New York. He attended the naval academy for one year, resigned in 1885, to become a cadet in the revenue service, and later an officer in the coast guard, his successor.

In 1898, he received a gold medal and the thanks of congress for heroism in saving the lives of 200 American sailors frozen in on a fleet of whalers at Point Barrow. To accomplish this he led a party of three 1,700 miles overland in the frozen Arctic country. He retired as coast guard commandant in 1919.

FLOYD SOLDIER BURIED IN ROME ON ARMISTICE DAY

Rome, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—The chief feature of the Armistice day celebration in Rome today was the funeral of Joe Attaway, Floyd county's first soldier slain on the battlefield in France during the world war.

The funeral was in charge of Shanklin-Attaway post of the American Legion and was participated in not only by the members of the post in full uniform, but as well by civic organizations, Confederate veterans and the Daughters of the Confederate chapter.

The cortege was long and imposing, as the dead soldier, whose body was returned from France a few days ago, was laid to rest in his boyhood home.

Before the burial the body lay in state in the city auditorium, where the flag-covered casket was viewed by hundreds of persons.

Other features of the day were church services, where patriotic addresses were made and the tolling of the bells of the city to call the people to the two-minute prayer period. A brief talk was made by Major W. A. Patton.

Two hundred delegates representing thirty-one countries attended the recent convention in Vienna of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom. The president of the organization is Miss Jane Addams, of Chicago.

A NEW WAY

No More Ugly Laundry Marks on Your Nice Bed and Table Linen.

Nothing has ever been quite so vexing to every housewife who sends her bed and table linen to the laundry as the many ugly, meaningless laundry marks put on her linen. Sometimes a dozen or more on one piece, all the same and legible; complaints to the laundryman, who would admit it was disgraceful to mark linen so much, but said it could not be prevented, that goods had to be marked in order to separate them. Unfortunately, at times, the separation was not perfect and wrong pieces were returned.

You will be delighted to know that the Trio Laundry Company has at last succeeded in overcoming all of the objections anyone could have to sending their bed and table linen to the laundry. They have worked out a plan whereby every customer's linen is washed separately, not mixed with other linen, and washed with less than ever before.

With NO MARKS except those already on the goods when received, and with the positive assurance that everything received will be properly laundered and returned to its rightful owner, something that has never before been absolutely possible in any laundry.

It took the Trio Laundry Company a long time to work out a successful, accurate and satisfactory plan to overcome the many just complaints and objections to the old way, and to install the NEW WAY NO MARK SYSTEM. Considerable expense, much patience and many trials were required to perfect it, so much so that it will not be possible to make this branch of their business profitable for many months, but they feel it will be such a boon and blessing to every housewife who uses a laundry that their patrons will be glad to tell their friends about it, and ultimately they will be

IMPROVED SERVICE DEPENDS ON RATES, STATES ARKRIGHT

Emphasizing that electric, gas and street car service is indispensable to modern conditions, Preston Arkwright, president of the Georgia Railway and Power company, addressed the Citizens club Friday on various phases of the operation of public utilities.

"I guess you've seen street cars crowded so much that you can't get in them waiting on passing tracks until the other car ran out and back along a long stretch of single track," Mr. Arkwright said. "These cars and these tracks were adequate once, but they won't stay adequate to meet the needs of a growing population."

"Every year additional facilities must be provided. It takes $1,500,000 at least every year in Atlanta for the most conservative meeting of the ordinary needs of growth without any provision for extraordinary needs, such as the building of new water-power plants."

"It is infinitely greater to the users of the service themselves that these needs shall be met than that the rate they pay for the service shall be kept so low as to make it impossible to raise the additional capital necessary to meet the needs for good service."

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women

Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had to take such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks, that I could not do my work."

"I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others such good and thought I would give it a trial. I have been very glad that I did, for now I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."

—Mrs. HARRY A. WILSON, R. F. D. 5, Clearfield, Pa.

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backache, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot afford to neglect trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sheltering Arms Holds Memorial For Mrs. Hickey

The memorial service held Thursday morning by the Sheltering Arms association at Osgood Sanders day nursery, was in loving tribute to the late Mrs. James E. Hickey, who was president during the world war, and was a beloved member of the association.

Mrs. Walter Colquitt, president of the Sheltering Arms, opened the meeting with very appropriate words relating to the earnest work Mrs. Hickey had accomplished when she was head of the charitable institution. Each day she formed her committee, and never left her post until the day was ended, and often turned in the largest amount collected for the maintenance of the nurseries conducted by the Sheltering Arms.

Mrs. Bolling Jones began her tribute to Mrs. Hickey by saying that as Mrs. Robert Stevenson said that we "counted not riches by worldly fame, honor or worldly possessions, but by the number of friends we had and no one is rich enough to lose a friend."

Mrs. Jones said that since Mrs. Hickey's death she certainly counted herself that much poorer, and the Sheltering Arms had certainly lost a friend. For 25 years she had loved the Sheltering Arms.

Mrs. Hickey, she had been a president of the Sheltering Arms during the world war and she knew the difficulties with which she had had to contend in that period of stress, when the people's minds and hearts were mostly occupied with America's soldiers.

She stressed the fact that Mrs. Hickey loved her home and she liked to think that the last time Mrs. Hickey left the home it was to go to the Sheltering Arms.

Mrs. Frank Logan, in paying her tribute of love, spoke of the impression that much poorer, and the Sheltering Arms had certainly lost a friend. For 25 years she had loved the Sheltering Arms.

Mrs. Jones said that since Mrs. Hickey's death she certainly counted herself that much poorer, and the Sheltering Arms had certainly lost a friend. For 25 years she had loved the Sheltering Arms.

Atlantans Asked To Help Rebuild Burned Church

Atlanta Presbyterians are called upon to help rebuild the burned Georgia Avenue Presbyterian church, which was destroyed by fire April 10, in an appeal issued by S. H. McGuire, chairman of the rebuilding campaign committee, who declared that work started on the new church would have to stop unless sufficient funds to carry it on are secured.

"I have had a natural aversion to appealing to the public for support, because of so many 'drives' and campaigns. However, in this instance, where our church was destroyed by fire, it is an entirely different proposition from other drives now seeking public donations," Mr. McGuire said.

Mr. McGuire declared that approximately $8,000 was needed at once. "I am convinced that, with this sum, we can complete our church. We only have 200 members in the congregation, none of whom are wealthy or rich, and we've done about all we ourselves can do."

Mr. McGuire expressed his appreciation of the contribution of $500 made by Captain James W. English, president of the Fourth National Liberal and Liberal Association, made by J. K. Orr, John A. Manget and of Bonar Allen.

Cheeks or money, made payable to A. C. Wellborn, treasurer, and sent to him in 528 Candler building, or to his home, 390 East Georgia avenue, will be keenly appreciated.

Sutton to Preach.

Milledgeville, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—W. A. Sutton, superintendent of public schools of Atlanta, will preach at the Methodist church next Sunday morning and evening.

Tablet Unveiled To Honor Memory Of Capt. Connally

"Captain Joseph Brown Connally was the embodiment of good cheer," declared Albert Howell, delivering a eulogy to the late prominent clubman, Friday evening at 5:15 o'clock in the Capital City club, where many men and women had assembled for the unveiling of a bronze tablet on the main floor of the club as a memorial to the late captain's life here and his valor and patriotism during the world war.

"His life, hope and optimism wherever he went," continued Mr. Howell. "There was not a member of this club who did not love him and not a servant who did not worship him. He came from a race which did much for the development of Georgia. One of his grandfathers gave a fund to the University of Georgia during its infancy and thousands of needy Georgia boys have taken advantage of it in attending school."

"We all know his valor and patriotism, and this tablet will be here long after we pass away and will remind our children of the valor and unselfishness of this truly wonderful man. He answered America's first call for volunteers in 1917, when if he wished he could have remained at home and enjoyed its comfort and peace. His army record was one to envy and his death was the cause of widespread grief."

"As for his life at this club, it was he who showed us that the Vofstead act could not kill the joy of the club. He showed us that the roses on women's cheeks bloom just as red after the act as before it, and taught us that Coca-Cola is a savior and can supplant champagne and that there is not really so great a gulf from Budweiser to Bevo."

"Those who knew him can never forget him and the great spirit he possessed. He was a prince of good fellows, and for cheer, unselfishness and courage he had no superior."

Miss Sallie Spalding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spalding, and a niece of Captain Connally, then unveiled the tablet which was draped with a large silk American flag. Dr. Henry Alford Porter led in prayer.

"His life in this city radiated beneath the bas-relief of former Captain Connally on the tablet is the following: 'In memory of Joseph Brown Connally, son of E. F. Connally, 32nd Infantry, U. S. A., born in 1875, and his death, 1920, also are on the tablet. The late Captain Connally was a member of Atlanta's own, the eighty-second division, and was gassed in the Argonne forest, France. The effects caused his death, while he was at Fort McPherson in 1920. Urie Arkinson, E. H. Tamm and J. W. Goldsmith composed the committee on arrangements for the services."

LEADERS OF LABOR WILL TAKE PULPITS

Boston, November 11.—Labor leaders are to occupy the pulpits of the 25 churches in and near Boston next Sunday, "to preach workingmen's sermons on religious deals and industrial conditions."

The Central Labor union, in announcing assignments of local officers to the churches, included in its list Methodist, Congregational, Universalist and Baptist pastorates and a synagogue. The invitation to union heads to address church congregations came from the Greater Boston Federation of Churches. Seven ministers last Wednesday accepted a reciprocal invitation from the union, dotted their fronts with overalls and worked as workmen.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PLANNED IN DECATUR

That a definite attempt will be made to establish a Christian church in Decatur was determined upon at a meeting of the Men's Business club, of the East Atlanta Christian church, held at the church at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening.

A committee of twenty men will visit Decatur Sunday to confer with Decatur citizens who are members of Christian churches, and who are compelled to attend services outside their home town.

Talks were made at the meeting by Edgar Craighead, superintendent of the First Christian church; Rev. T. G. Linkous, pastor of the East Point church, and others.

REDUCTION IS ASKED IN FERTILIZER RATES

Relative to a reduction in freight rates on fertilizer and fertilizer material in the southern and southeastern states, a petition was presented on November 2, by the traffic committee of the National Fertilizer association to the Southern Freight Rate association at Washington, it was announced Friday.

A similar petition was submitted to the Trunk Lines' Association of New York on November 3. The effect of these petitions will be to lower the rates on fertilizer shipped in the south and east, and will be of far-reaching benefit to farmers in these sections. After the reception of the petitions by the committee, it is expected that a decision probably will be reached soon.

O'DOWD WINS BY KNOCKOUT

Mobile, Ala., November 11.—(Special.)—The announcement of the officers of the Gulf Athletic club that their boxing program Wednesday night would be the best of the season was certainly lived up to as the members enjoyed three of the best fights seen in Mobile in years. The clean manner in which the fights were staged won the managers much praise and it is indicative that the sport will grow more popular than ever.

The O'Dowd of Atlanta, scored a clean knockout over Kid Lavigne, of England, in the fifth round. This bout was to go ten rounds, but the Atlanta boxer showed a wonderful improvement over his fighting since he was here in the latter part of September. This was the bout that kept the members interested from start to finish. O'Dowd weighed 119 pounds and his opponent 121, went at the topmost speed most of the fight. O'Dowd's aggressiveness was the feature of his fight and he floored the heavier man four times and then finally sent him the knockout punch to the heart. Both men fought clean breaks all through the five rounds.

Is Promising Boy.
O'Dowd's victory over Lavigne showed the Mobile fans that this boxer is the coming boy of the south. Lavigne has met such men as Jimmy White, Jack Freeman and others and has ten years more ring experience than the Atlanta boy. His work won him the applause of the Mobile fight fans who will watch his career in the future with interest. J. A. Mayson, who manages O'Dowd, is a former Mobile boy. O'Dowd meets Ashton Douma in Atlanta in December.

Joe Smith, of Mobile, staged a remarkable comeback after a layoff of two years. He entered the ring at 129 pounds and fought Frankie Wilson, of the cruiser Galveston, and knocked the latter out in the second round. Smith showed a wicked right punch that he landed on the chin of the naval man, who took the count and was carried to his corner. This was a great fight with pretty breaks.

Herb McAtee, weighing 125 pounds, and Chuck Miller, who tipped the scales at 127, went the full route of eight rounds in the semi-final. McAtee was given the decision and showed that he can stay the limit against the trained boxers. Miller was given

PETRELS IN MACON TODAY

Macon, Ga., November 11.—(Special.)—Practically the entire Oglethorpe student body will come to Macon to see the game that is to be played Saturday between the Petrels and the Mercer Baptists.

Both teams are in a crippled condition, according to reports from the Presbyterian college, three of their regular men will not be available for Saturday's game, and the Baptists have two players who are suffering from injuries. The three men of the Petrel outfit who will be out of the game are Crowe, Jacobs, and Stephens, while the Baptists will not be able to count on Smith and Simmons. Simmons has been suffering from an internal injury and Smith from a sprained shoulder, both of which were received in the game with Furman last Saturday. These men are among the strongest on the Mercer squad and Coach Goff will find it hard to replace them out of the reserve.

The Baptists consider this game their chance to square themselves with their supporters as well as to avenge the victories that the Presbyterian college won over them the last two years. They lost to the Atlanta college last year by a score of 42 to 0 and in 1919 by a score of 73 to 0. The Baptist college has an outfit this year that is such an improvement over her teams of the 1, 2, 3 years that the record that they made has no bearing on what can be expected next Saturday.

SPECIAL MEETING AT JEWISH TEMPLE

"The Handicap" will be the subject of a talk by Rabbi David Marx at a special meeting to be held at 11:15 o'clock Sunday morning in the Jewish temple. A series of talks is being given at the temple upon subjects of general interest.

SCRIBES SET FOR TOURNEY

The several candidates for entrance in the newspaper tournament to be held on the James L. Key golf course, near the federal prison, are all getting limbered up for the battle, which is to begin November 20. The course is being put in excellent shape for the tourney, and everything is expected to be in tip-top shape when the first pair tee off on that eventful day.

Several prizes have been secured and will be awarded to winner of the various matches. The committee that is promoting the scribes' tournament is under the direction of J. I. Crockett, who expects the entry list to be large.

The course is laid out near the stockade on one of the most beautiful sites around Atlanta, but it is a hard course to play for a low score on. One has to shoot excellent golf to come anywhere near par. The fairways present a rolling and sloping effect, while the greens are the best of the skinned type to be found in the country. In all, the fairways and greens present a picture that sends a thrill of delight through any golfer. Next season the grass greens will be in use and the fairways should be as smooth as a lawn.

Two Games Called Off.

Bristol, Va., Tenn., November 11.—Football games scheduled for Bristol today and tomorrow have been called. Carson Newman called off the game scheduled with King college here today in order to meet Maryville college at Jefferson City, Tennessee. The game with Emory and Henry tomorrow was called off on account of the Atlanta college game and the Atlanta team. It is thought that serious injuries and failure in academic work caused the disbandment.

"And I hope it 'hants' the knicker," he added with another grin, "and ticks him every time he goes to sit down."

Popular Band Aids.

Three tunes proved most popular with band masters Friday. They were: "Over There," "Hot Time Tonight" and "Dixie."

And over them all at 11 o'clock, after the thin notes of the bugles had died, rose the soul-inspiring notes of "The Star Spangled Banner."

While services at Five Points were in progress, the Emory university R. O. T. C. corps was being reviewed on its parade ground, and Dr. Plato Durham delivered a stirring address appropriate to the Armistice day occasion.

Decorate Pershing Point.

Children of the Spring Street public school marched in a body to Pershing Point and gave a beautiful program in commemoration of the war dead. They left the shaft there covered with blossoms.

Students and Parent-Teacher members of the Moreland Avenue school planted a tree in memory of the heroes of the world war, a splendid patriotic program being carried out at the time.

Observe Armistice.

The officers and employees of Foot & Davies company observed Armistice day with a splendid program. About 30 per cent of the male employees of the stationers took part in the service.

M. G. Clapp, office manager, presided. Rev. W. H. Kershaw, an employee, offered a prayer. Addresses were made by President W. O. Foot, Vice President John M. Cooper, Harold C. Smith, assistant to the pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, and Roy Woodbury, a Foot & Davies employee who was cited for bravery in action while in France.

82d Division Boys Hold Reunion Today

Today the former members of the 82d division in Atlanta and from all quarters of the state will get together for an informal reunion. The members of the 82d division who were in France, or the more dreary days of their training at Camp Gordon.

There is nothing of a formal nature about the gathering which the local divisional association, through its officers, has arranged for the day. The only planned feature is a luncheon which will be held at 12 o'clock, noon sharp, in the banquet hall of the Peachtree country club. The trip to the football game between Georgetown and Tech at Grant field in the afternoon. The members of the 321st field artillery, a regiment of the 82d, are now holding a reunion of their own in Atlanta and the members of this outfit will join with the party of the division as a whole for attendance on the game. In order that the remaking of acquaintances and the new explanation of how the war was won may get under way as soon as possible, members of the 82d will begin to assemble at the Peachtree at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

To facilitate the handling of tickets which have been reserved for the Georgetown-Tech game, it is urged that the officers of the Atlanta 82d Division association that all those desiring tickets get them by 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning. They will be available at the Peachtree from either Otey Mitchell, Avenue Manning, Joe Cooks, John White or Paul Warwick, who will be on hand to deal them out to those desiring to get them. An entire section in the concrete grandstand has been reserved and there are still a number of choice seats in the group available, despite the fact that the demand for them has been heavy.

The luncheon will begin sharply at 12 o'clock. It will last until it becomes absolutely necessary for the lunchers and talkers to arise from the board and make their way to Tech flats for the game, where added interest will prevail in the fact that Coaches Alex Alexander and Kid Clay are both former members of the division. The gang will be prepared to give these former comrades all manner of enthusiastic support in the struggle of their husky charges against the Hilltoppers.

After the game, the divisions will proceed to indulge in their own whims, either as groups or as individuals. There have been several theater parties and dinner parties arranged among the members of the division.

Woman's Club of Dalton, offered a prize to the district reporting next year the largest subscription to the endowment fund over and above the regular assessments.

An Armistice day service so moving in prayerful spirit and beauty that practically the whole convention was in tears, began with the national two minutes of silence.

A service man in uniform sang "Flanders Field." Mrs. Frank McIntire, national democratic committee, made the principal address, its theme, limitation of armaments.

The exercises were anticipated at the Thursday night meeting, which was continued until midnight that the Georgia Federation might offer the first prayer on Armistice day in memory of the victims of the world war and for the success of the arms conference.

Wedding Occurs.
A convention full of remarkable events had its climax in a wedding.

At 6 o'clock Friday afternoon immediately after adjournment, Miss Marcia Buchholz, of Dalton, chairman of the department of fine arts, Georgia Federation, was married to Thomas Hill Ellington, of Jacksonville, Fla. The ceremony took place at Hull Memorial church, Dr. Patterson officiating. The engagement had been announced several weeks ago, but the date of the wedding had not been made public. Mrs. Hays, president of the Georgia Federation, and the members of the Dalton delegation, were especially invited, but the news of the wedding having spread through the convention, the whole convention attended.

NEGRO WHO TRIES TO ROB GROCERY STORE IS KILLED

A negro, said to be Bob White, was shot and killed late Thursday night as he attempted to hold up and rob J. E. George, grocery merchant, at Southdale, Ga., according to information from Sheriff J. A. McCurdy, of Deatur, Friday.

It is claimed that the negro entered the store as the workers were logging up for the night, and commanded George and his clerk to throw up their hands. Mr. George seized his revolver and fired, killing the negro.

RESOLUTIONS LAMENT DEATH OF G. W. ADAIR

The death of George W. Adair, who was prominently identified with the real estate business in Atlanta, was lamented in resolutions unanimously passed at a meeting of the Atlanta Real Estate board at the Peacock club Thursday. The resolutions were prepared by a committee composed of Benjamin D. Watkins, A. S. Adams and William J. Davis.

The resolutions declared that the death of Mr. Adair was a loss to the real estate community and to the city of Atlanta.

"Resolved, therefore, by the Atlanta Real Estate board," the resolutions continued, "that in the death of George W. Adair, we have lost a friend in our profession—one who as a salesman had few equals and no superiors, who was a warm friend and supporter of this board, and whose name in real estate circles and the civic life of Atlanta was almost, if not quite, unique."

Our Hero's Clothes Appear to be Made of Asbestos.

By C. W. Kahles
Copyright, 1921.

WELL, HERE WE ARE AGAIN, FOLKS, AND IT'S JUST AS WE SUSPECTED! RUDOLPH, THE SUPREME RULER OF THE UNDERWORLD, IS AT THE BOTTOM OF THIS DREADFUL MESS, AND THE TABLES ARE TURNED AGAINST OUR HERO

NOW WE ASK YOU AS MAN TO MAN (OR VICE VERSA) WHAT CHANCE HAS OUR HERO WITH THIS BUNCH OF FIENDS? AND WE ANSWER FRANKLY 'NOT A CHINK LAUDRYMAN'S CHANCE IN A BEAUTY CONTEST.

AND YET A GLEAM OF HOPE FLUTTERS IN THE OFFING! IF THOSE RAPSCALLIONS WERENT SO BUSY GLOATING THEY'D OBSERVE THAT OUR HERO HAS BENT HIMSELF SLIGHTLY OFF THE PERPENDICULAR

PUTTY NIFTY NOSE WORK, EH WOT? AND DOESN'T IT TICKLE US TO SEE THOSE TWO SCALLYWAGS GET THE BOILING OIL, THO?

OW!!

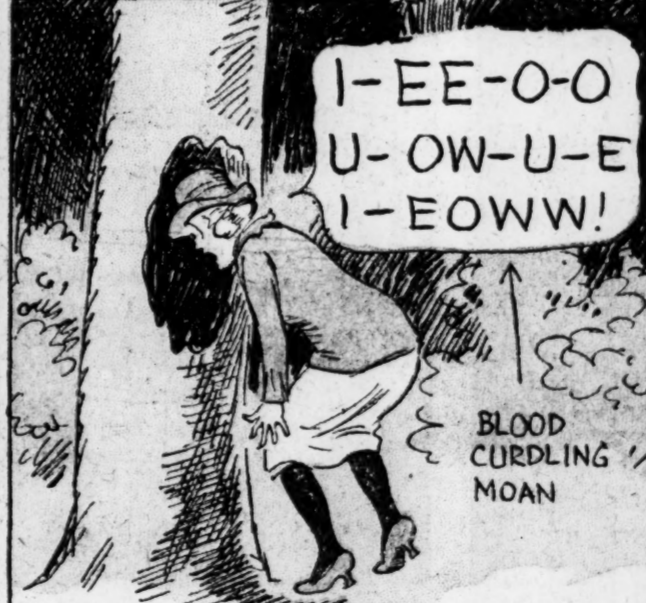

TOUGH LUCK! ALL THAT CLEVER WORK WASTED! OUR HERO'S ENEMIES WERE TOO MANY FOR HIM AND IT LOOKS AS THOUGH HE'S DONE FOR! ANYWAY, WE DID THE BEST WE COULD FOR HIM.

IT'S A RELIEF TO GET ABOVE GROUND AGAIN FOR SOME FRESH AIR, EVEN IF WE RUN INTO NOTHING BUT FRESH TROUBLE. YOU SEE, BELINDA, IN LOOKING

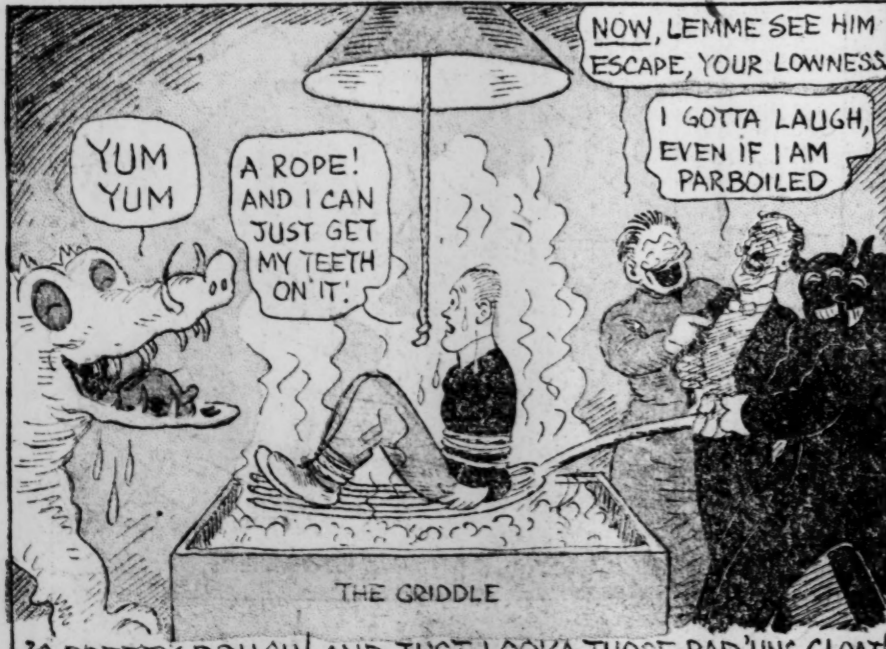

UP OUR HERO, HAS GOTTEN HERSELF HOPELESSLY LOST IN THE FUNGUS FOREST, AND NOW WE'VE GOT MORE ANGUISH ON OUR HANDS

BUT THE NEXT MOMENT SHE LAMPED A HORRIFYING SPECTACLE!!!

NO WONDER THE POOR GELL WAS JOLTED, FOR THIS IS WHAT SHE PIPED!!!

'S PRETTY ROUGH! AND JUST LOOKA THOSE BAD'UNS GLOAT. BUT HOLD! WOTS THIS? GOLSWIGGLE US IF IT AINT A ROPE!

AND THE NEXT MOMENT THE NEAR VICTIM SLITHERED FROM THE FRYING PAN UP THE FLUE!!!

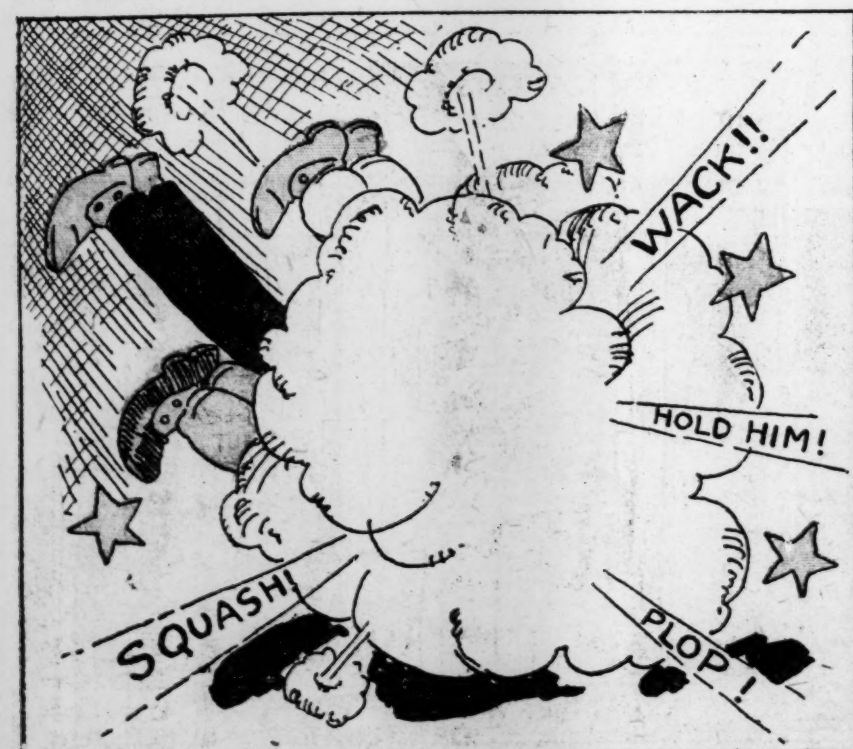

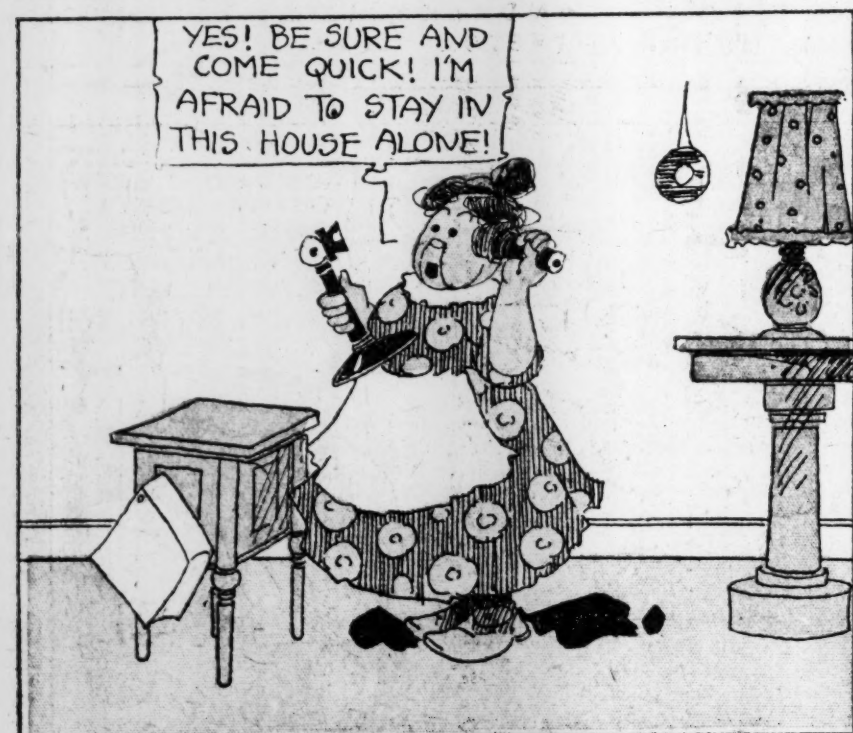

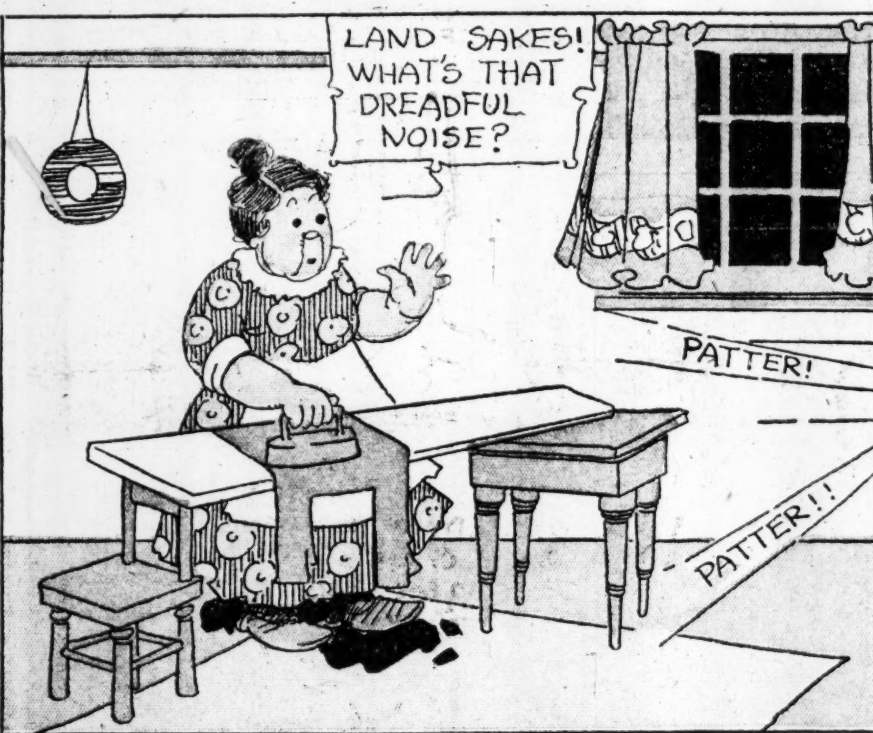

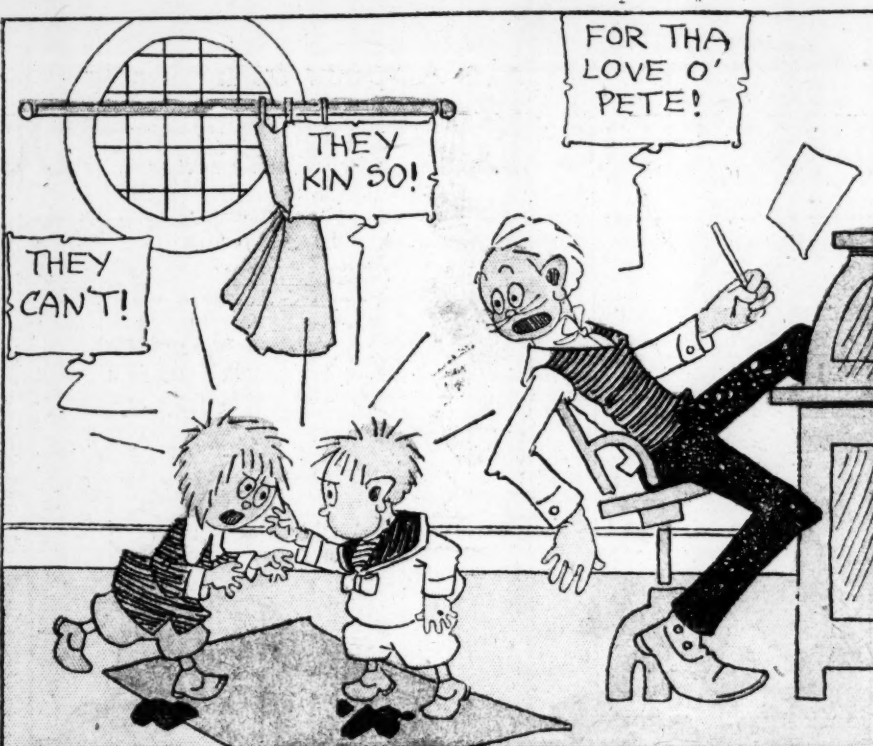

YOU SEE, THAT HOLLOW TREE WAS ONLY CAMOUFLAGE! THOSE UNDERWORLDERS HAD TO HAVE AIR IN THEIR LAIR SO THEY RAN THEIR FLUE UP THROUGH THIS FAKE TRUNK, AND HERE WE ARE NICE 'N HAPPY!
